QUICK TAKES PRO

"TECHNICAL ANALYSIS FOR EVERYONE"

MICHAEL KAHN RESEARCH LLC

January 30, 2016 – What a wild week and end to a wild month! The S&P 500 was down 11% at one point in January but even after rallying hard over the past week and a half it was still down quite a bit. As they say, as goes January so goes the year.

Well, that is not quite right. A positive result is positive. A negative result is a coin flip. But think about it, stocks rally most years so this is a rather meaningless analysis.

Still, when volatility rules like it does now it cannot be good after six years of bull market.

The market was due for a rebound and the technicals suggested as much. Of course, a little OPEC jawboning did not hurt oil, which helped stocks. On the charts, the failure to hold below the summer lows (1867 on the S&P 500) was bullish as was an oversold condition. The question is how long it will bounce. We still say, not much.

And why did everyone get so excited Friday? The Bank of Japan went to negative interest rates on excess deposits. In the words of Rocket J. Squirrel (to Bullwinkle Moose, magician), "that trick never works." Mario Draghi tried to jawbone in Europe earlier in the month and the effects faded.

But what investors here saw was a Fed that sort-of backed off its interest rate hike plan and another central bank still pouring the Kool-Aid in the punch bowl (to mix metaphors). And with the latest report showing a near dead-stop in economic growth (0.7% for Q4) the Fed would be criminal to keep going.

Technicals bear that out and we have a few charts below with the charting spin on a recession that is looking possible. We cannot wait for the jobs report this coming Friday!! The biggest, most important, generational report...since the last one.

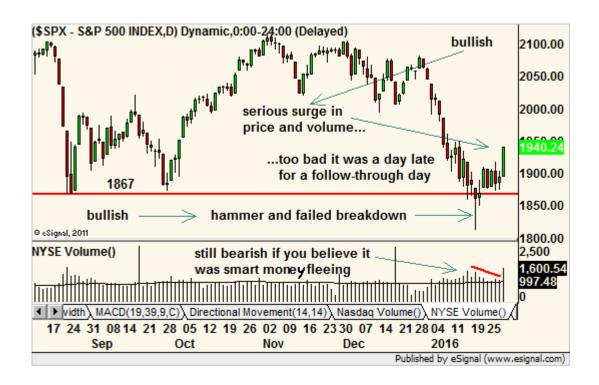

During the week, individual stocks either cratered or skyrocketed on earnings. Talk about a touchy market! And talk about a conflicted one, too. After all, we usually see leanings one way or the other depending on the market's actual health and mood. Now is seems that everyone piles on to short-term things and nothing more. Ooh, OPEC and Japan! Next week, aah, Iran, Turkey and the elections (we are making that up).

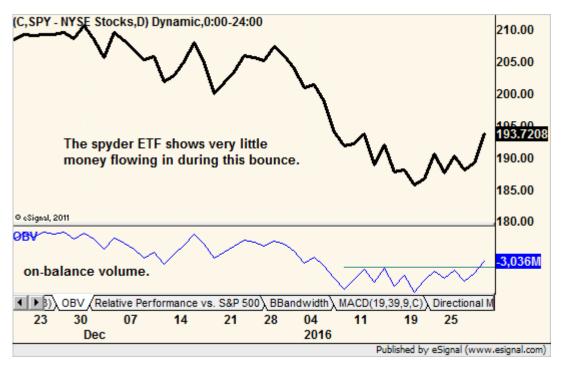

Our view is still one of corrective bounce in a bear market. The lopsidedness of the Friday gain was a bit of contrary evidence as was the possibility of the O'Neil follow-through day (FTD) window actually being open Friday instead of closing after Thursday's session. These are our only two issues giving us pause with the bearish side at this time so we'll have to see what happens Monday.

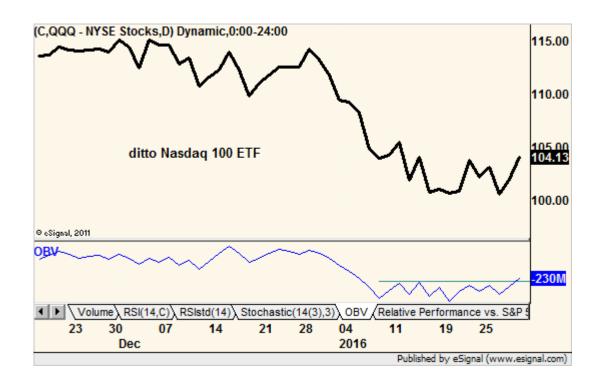

Index Charts of the Week

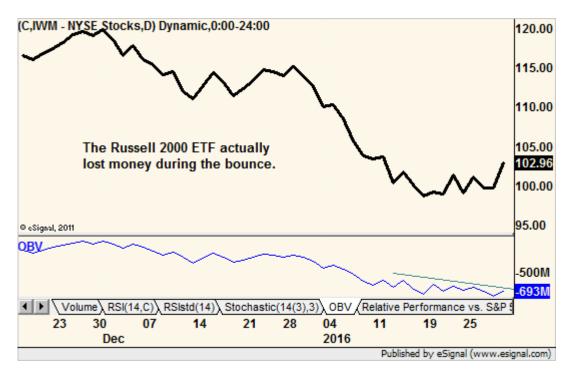

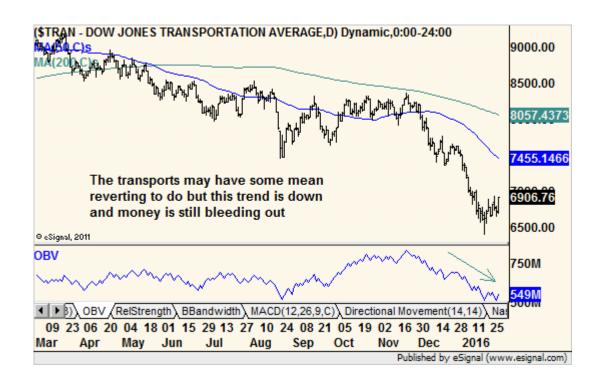

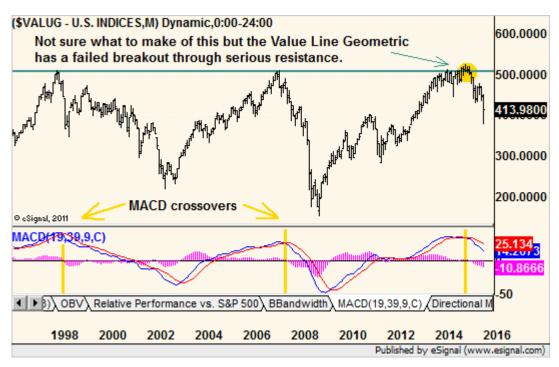

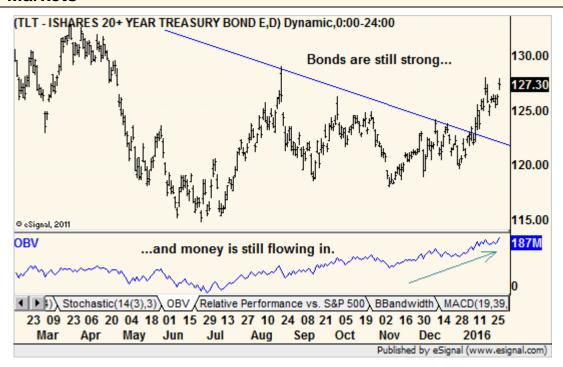

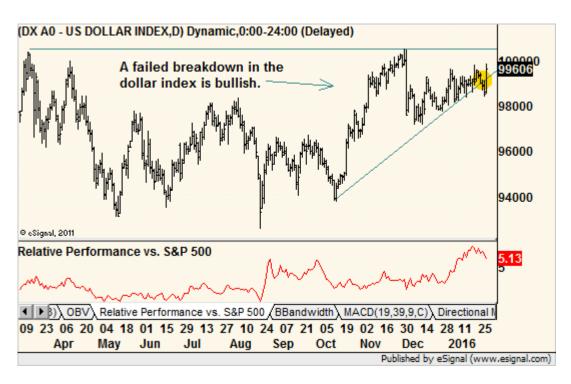

Other Markets

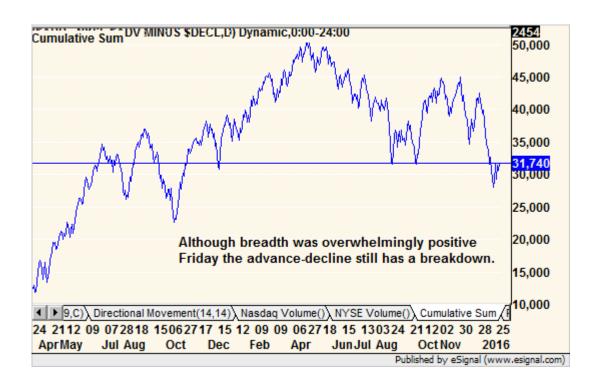

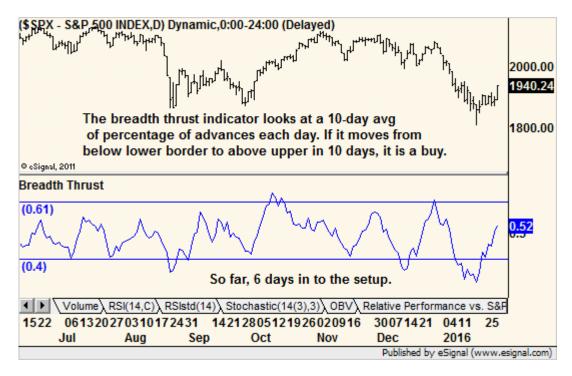

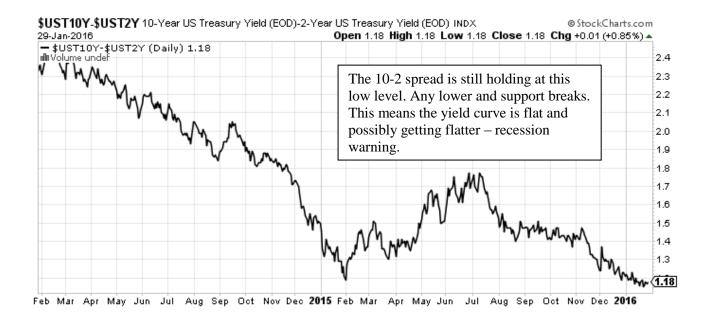

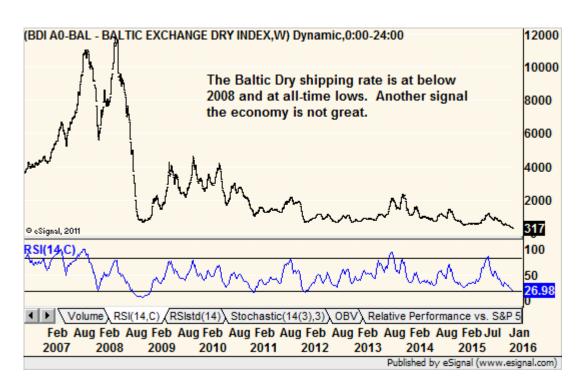

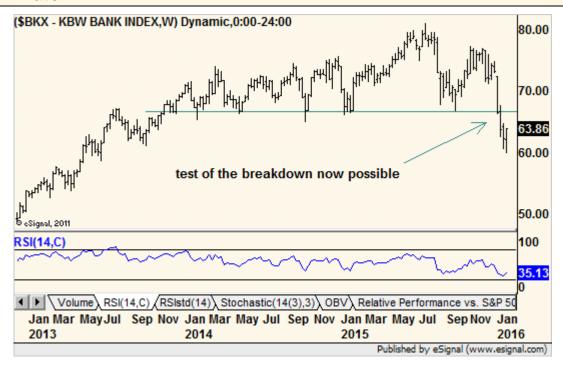

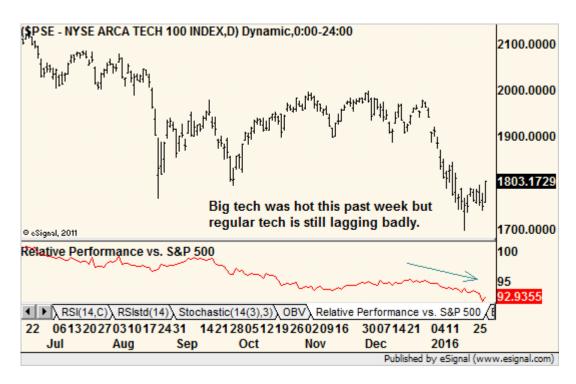

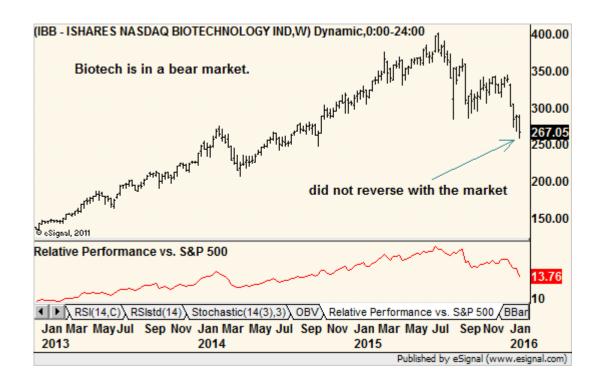

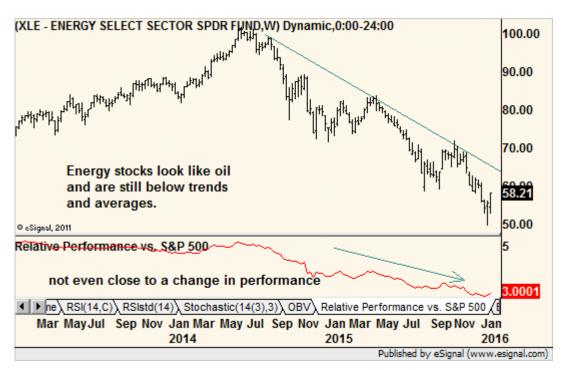

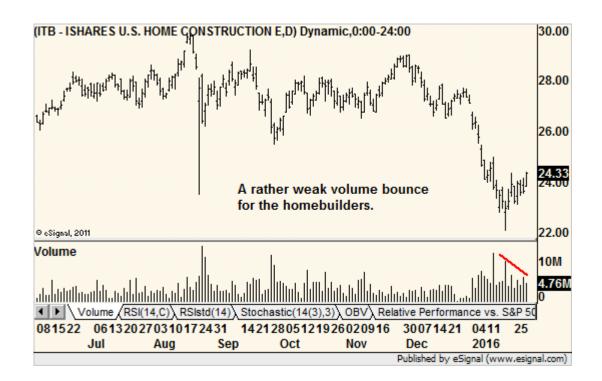

Sector Watch

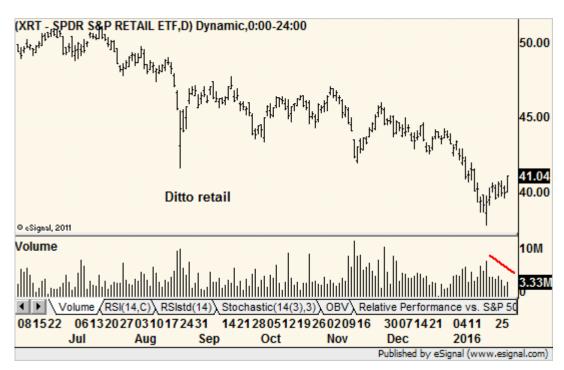

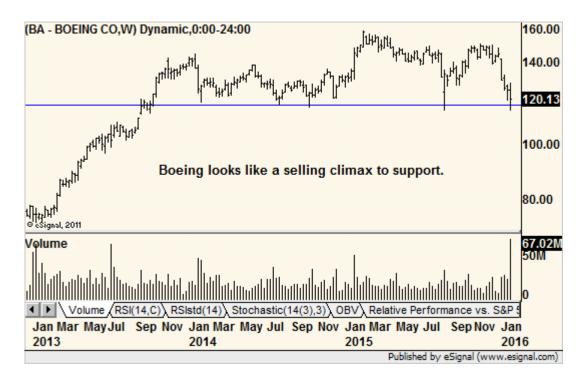

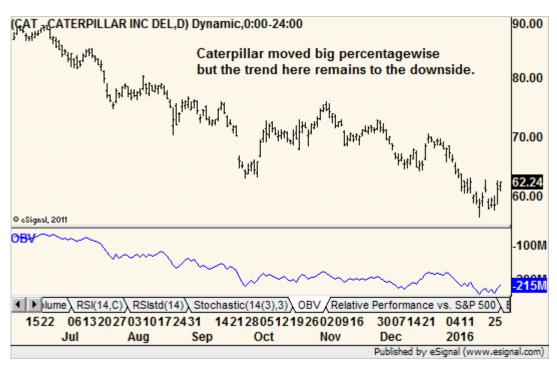

Stocks in the News

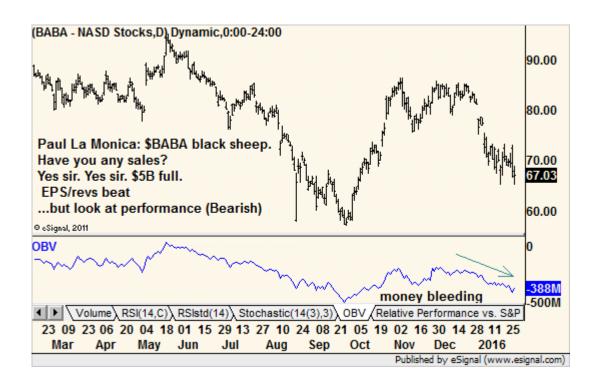

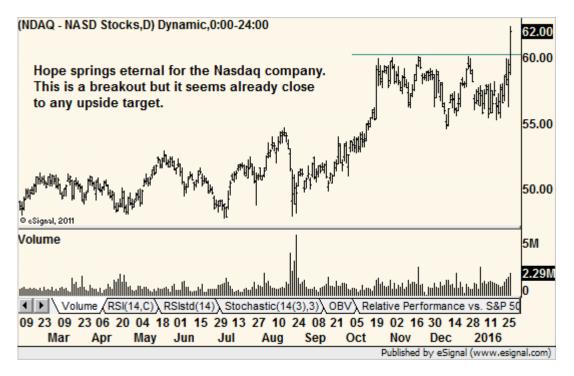

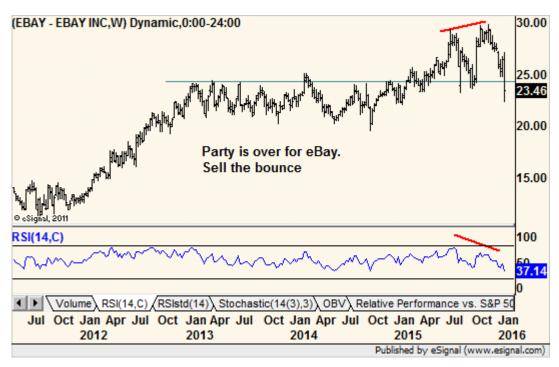

Other Information

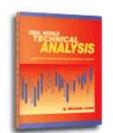

About - Michael Kahn, CMT, has been working with charts and technical analysis since 1986 and currently writes the twice-weekly "Getting Technical" column for Barron's Online. He is also a regular contributor to MarketWatch.com. Michael was formerly Chief Technical Analyst for BridgeNews and seen frequently on financial television including PBS' Nightly Business Report.

24/7 Website archive – http://www.quicktakespro.com/archive (password needed)

Customer Support - http://www.quicktakespro.com/support.html

Recommended reading - http://www.quicktakespro.com/education.html

What is a two-pager? These are short write-ups on various technical topics that are made available when further explanation of a topic is needed. There is no extra charge to subscribers. For those looking for a more complete reference and a bound version of these two-pagers, we offer the book Real World Technical Analysis at http://www.quicktakespro.com/rwta.html.

Refer a colleague to Quick Takes Pro and get a free month of service for each new paying subscriber. Just send an email (mailto:mkahn@quicktakespro.com) with names and email addresses and we'll track them and credit your account.

Connect with us:

http://www.facebook.com/QuickTakesPro.biz

http://twitter.com/mnkahn

http://www.linkedin.com/in/QuickTakesPro

http://www.quicktakespro.com/blog

http://pinterest.com/mnkahn/

http://youtube.com/quicktakespro

http://stocktwits.com/mnkahn

http://www.talkmarkets.com/contributor/mnkahn

The information contained in this report is opinion, based on information that we deem to be reliable at the time of publication, but is not guaranteed in any form. This report does not constitute a recommendation to purchase or sell any security and the analysts are not registered investment advisors. Further analysis is recommended before undertaking any position in any security. Any risks are solely the responsibility of the buyer/seller. The authors, publishers and distributors of Quick Takes Pro and any associates thereof accept no liability for the content or actions taken by anyone or institution utilizing this report. The authors, publishers and distributors of Quick Takes Pro may have positions in securities mentioned in this report. All charts prepared with eSignal data and software unless otherwise indicated.

All contents © Michael Kahn Research LLC, 2015